Dear Friends,

In January 2018, Board and staff collaborated to craft our three-to-five year strategic plan and were excited about the possibilities of professionalizing our organization and scaling our programmatic reach by 2021, providing vision services to 10,000 patients, expanding the vision surgery program 15-20%, supporting medical missions worldwide, and exceeding the Public Service Commission (PSC) maximum guaranteed patient stream.

Great organizations plan for outcomes and obstacles. I know our Foundation didn’t stand alone when faced with solving a giant, unforeseeable obstacle: how can our staff and network of Providers safely serve our constituents and keep them safe in the wake and aftermath of a global pandemic?

We’ve navigated our operations and services with great care. It’s been an incredible year that has understandably left us short of our aspirational goals but resolved in our mission of providing vision and hearing services to underinsured and uninsured Georgians—a population that has grown significantly in the economic impact of the Coronavirus (COVID-19).

Many non-profit organizations did not survive COVID-19.

As Board Chair, I am humbled that corporations, public and private foundations, individual supporters, volunteers, Providers and our statewide network of Lions Clubs continued to financially invest in Georgia Lions Lighthouse Foundation while partners like MedShare provided us with the most coveted in-kind gift: personal protective equipment (PPE).

Thanks to you, we are well positioned and in renewed momentum to pursue our goals with focus, passion, and urgency.

In gratitude,

Jon Winters

Chairman of the Board of Directors

Over the past three years with the Georgia Lions Lighthouse Foundation (GLLF), I have served as the Chief Financial Officer. In the last quarter of FY2020, our Board of Directors asked me to fill in as interim Executive Director.

Early in FY2020, the leadership team framed much of our new programming opportunities around the concept of “20/20” vision, even going as far as hosting our Night of Spectacles fundraiser on February 20, 2020.

Night of Spectacles was the last event we held before we joined millions across the country as we closed in mid-March on a “wait and see” basis before moving into a fully mandated shelter-in-place order.

After the onset of the pandemic, our play on “20/20” perfect vision was delayed. Still, I would be remiss if I did not acknowledge how my dual leadership roles expanded from a concern of GLLF’s economic stability to concern for the exponential growth of the millions of Georgians who needed us.

As the pandemic continued to take its toll, leaving countless numbers of people without income or insurance, I wondered how people in need of sight and sound navigate through this unique time of life?

We began our “Seeing You Through COVID” campaign, opening our eyeglasses shop to anyone in need and frontline essential workers.

Even though the pandemic hindered our normal operations, we were still able to perform 677 eye exams, fabricate 1004 pairs of eyeglasses and provide 949 Georgians with hearing aids via our Public Service Commission collaborative.

Thank you to our supporters, staff, and the Board for their continued collective confidence in this organization and my ability to lead as we navigated this historic moment of transition in the world and at our beloved GLLF.

Sincerely,

Phillip Arrington, CFO

A Local Volunteer with Global Impact

Recycling Center Lead Volunteer Harold Walker has been a consistent presence at GLLF, leading efforts to clean and process recycled eyeglass donations that mission groups take worldwide to bring the gift of sight.

The Lilburn, Georgia resident is a near forty-year member of The Lions Club International (LCI) and was locally recruited by a former Bethesda Lions Club member, which in its history merged with two local clubs and is currently known as the Snellville Lions Club.

Preventing avoidable blindness and improving the quality of life for the blind and visually impaired is one of LCI's impact areas, making GLLF an obvious choice for his volunteer engagement, a relationship he’s nurtured for over 20 years.

“Where else can you get involved in the sight part of the Lions than at the Georgia Lions Lighthouse Foundation?”

“When I was in the Bethesda Club, we used to make trips to Clairmont Road where the old Lighthouse Foundation facility was and wash and clean glasses there,” Walker shared. Walker described his volunteer work supporting both the recycling center and the fundraising events as more “off and on” until he became the Recycling Center Lead 10 years ago after the predecessor stepped down.

Walker can be found in the Recycling Center weekly with a group of three-six volunteers who were either fellow Snellville Lions Club members and community volunteers, but that changed with COVID-19 when GLLF closed its offices in March 2020, restricting volunteer activity until September 2020.

GLLF also ceased any eyeglasses donations during the pandemic—a mandate that’s still in place.

Walker said he still stayed busy with other causes before he was permitted to return to GLLF, commenting that he was disappointed he “couldn’t come down here to help people get glasses” but looks forward to when the Recycling Center and external mission groups resume normal operations.

“When we open back up, we’re going to need plenty of volunteers. We’ve got plenty of glasses in Lions Clubs around the state that will need to come here to get processed.”

What’s Walker love about volunteering here? Knowing every pair of glasses the Recycling Center touches and distributes worldwide is equivalent to the number of people he gets to help see.

It’s the impact for him.
GLLF’s Recycling Center processed 37,876 recycled glasses in FY20 that were sent across the United States and to international countries.

Focused on Georgia with an international impact.

GLLF WORKS CLOSELY WITH PROVIDERS TO DELIVER OUR MISSION

We cannot reach our constituents without them. GLLF would love to take this moment to collectively thank them all for their dedication in delivering sound and sight and share a few pictures we were fortunate enough to capture during FY2020.

GLLF is always seeking new Provider partners to help us deliver our mission throughout the state and invites you to share GLLF and even this annual report with any audiologist, optometrist or ophthalmologist within your network.

- Partnerships make our work possible! Thanks to help from Auditory-Verbal Center, Inc., the Lighthouse hearing team was able to get this little girl approved in just 4 days. Getting a sweet drawing from a grateful patient made our whole day, and we hope it brightens yours too! #whyweserve
- Volunteer optometrist Dr. Carver provided eye exams for the residents of Christian City.
- Longtime volunteer Optometrist Dr. Keesha Hampton served residents from No Longer Bound at our Chamblee Clinic.
- Dr. Brandy Augustine generously giving her time to help Georgians in need at Advantage Behavioral Health in Elberton.
- At the J.O.Y. Medical Clinic in Dublin we welcomed a new volunteer optometrist, Dr. Kara Clark.
- Curtis Cooper of Primary Health Care hosted a mobile vision clinic with the help of Dr. Croci and Ogeechee Tech graduate, Joanna.
- Dr. Brandy Augustine generously giving her time to help Georgians in need at Advantage Behavioral Health in Elberton.
- Doctors Michael and Kelley Dasinger volunteering at Community Helping Place in Dahlonega.
- Volunteer optometrist Dr. Carver provided eye exams for the residents of Christian City.
- Longtime volunteer Optometrist Dr. Keesha Hampton served residents from No Longer Bound at our Chamblee Clinic.
EVENING IN THE END ZONE
Our September 19, 2019, event at The Georgia Football Hall of Fame honored football players and coaches with exemplary service to their community and medical professionals deeply committed to the delivery of vision and hearing services to the underinsured raised $125,000 for our program services.

Special congratulations to the night’s honorees:
Gary Stokan Hero of the Gridiron Award:
Herschel Walker

Beacon of Hope Award
